

Season 24/25 - Newsletter 39

Round 38 was a strong round that almost saw the five-fold come in as well, damn you Juventus.

There were only TWO negative scores this round. They both were eliminated from the Last Team Standing.

Another healthy average across the round at 29.79, up on the last round.

You'll Never Guess ALone had three correct scores, and didn't mess up bankers, and top scored this round.

Second, Hoggy's Heroes, were just a few points behind, and registered the only correct Guaranteed Banker of the round. Brighton's late penalty giving them half their points for the round

2 T'Wire had a strong as well. 4 correct scores for them adding up to their haul.

The table has closed up a little more this round

The top five are now within a one hundred point spread.

And a similar number are a similar number behind the top five.

The full table is, of course, on the website.

The Premier Perpetual League now has Liverpool clear out in front, as Arsenal and City fall further behind.

Liverpool are 4 (FOUR) points better than last season at the moment.

Arsenal MINUS 8, and City, MINUS 16 have capitulated.

The indications are that Chelsea, and Newcastle, will take 4th and 5th. Chelsea easily grabbing fourth if they just repeat last seasons results.

R39 is not needed until Friday, but there remain links to F1, The Golf, Eurovision and a September AGM. Have a look and
